

Our Reading Spines at Gosford Park Primary

At our school, each year group has a defined set of age-appropriate texts making up their reading spine. The reading spines ensure that every child has access to high quality texts from a range of authors. This allows them to celebrate the diversity of our school and wider community, enabling our children to immerse themselves in different cultures and beliefs and to learn about other people and places. At Gosford park we are:

'One Community, Many Cultures; Growing and Learning Together.'

Teachers use the reading spine texts to link reading comprehension and writing lessons. This allows texts to be explored in depth and for new and challenging vocabulary to be understood and used in context. As part of our writing lessons, teachers apply some 'Talk For Writing' strategies to these texts, allowing our children to learn, embed and internalise the language and structures used.

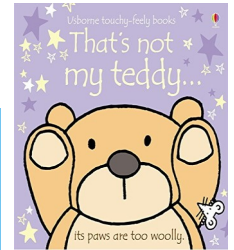

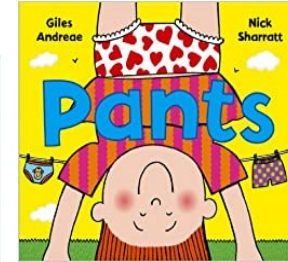

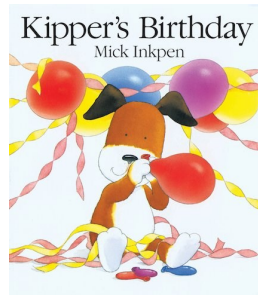

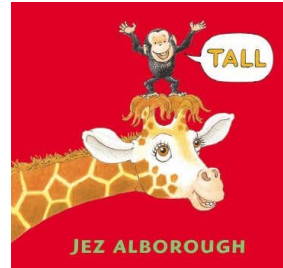

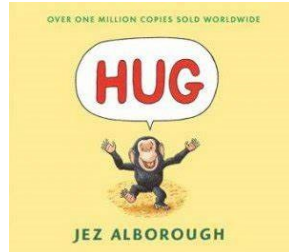

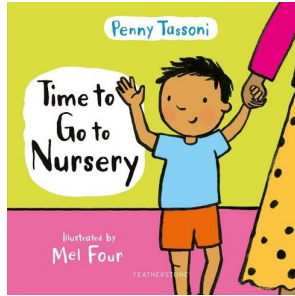

Many of our reading spine books link to our topics, providing excellent opportunities for knowledge to be applied across our curriculum.
